8. FSA and Origination Permission Exceptions – Kelly Douglass
9. Open Forum

10. Public Comment for all items on or not otherwise on the agenda.

Adjournment:

Proposal for temporary/annual exceptions to regular Curricunet originator roles:

Current Origination permissions rules:

- Full-time faculty hired into a discipline have origination rights to that discipline.
- If there are no full-time faculty in a discipline, faculty with the secondary FSA may originate in that discipline.
- Originators can add co-contributors at their discretion.

Exceptions that require various consultations or approvals:

- Disciplines in which the full-time faculty hired in the discipline want to give origination permissions to faculty not hired in that discipline have two avenues:
 - o For work on a specific proposal(s), the full-time hired-in-the-discipline originator can grant full access to the secondary FSA holder by adding that person as a co-contributor. If there are any difficulties with this, the Tech Review Chair or District Curriculum Analyst can help set up.
 - o For the faculty member with the secondary FSA to be given blanket origination permissions outside their hire discipline(s), the full-time district or college (?) faculty hired in the discipline should vote to approve that origination permission and provide that to Tech Review for implementation. This would need to be renewed annually.

VPAA approval?
